

Frequently asked questions

What is JR/SR Honor Band?

On November 19th and 20th, Texas A&M University-Commerce will host the 63rd Annual Junior/Senior Honor Band Weekend. This long-standing event features several opportunities for students over the two days:

- Attend a masterclass with the TAMUC faculty on the all-region etudes (TMEA and ATTSB tracks available).
- Perform in one of the two clinic honor bands.
- Work with internationally known guest composer JOHN MACKEY.
- Work with Conductors, Phillip Clements, TAMUC Director of Bands, Allan Goodwin, TAMUC Associate Director of Bands, Ryan Yahl, TAMUC Assistant Director of Bands and Jeff Bradford, Director of Fine Arts-Richardson I.S.D.
- Attend a concert featuring the TAMUC Wind Ensemble and instrumental faculty.

How do I register?

Directors must nominate their students in order to secure participation. Each director may select a maximum of TEN deserving upperclassmen to participate in the event. (It is recommended that directors nominate a percussionist as part of the ten since Mr. Mackey's music is often very percussion intensive). Positions in the Honor Bands are limited and will be filled in the order the nominations are received.

Directors: To register students, please go to www.tamuc.edu/music and click on Annual Programs and Workshops and then JR/SR Honor Band. Availability is limited so please choose your students as soon as possible and CONFIRM THEIR ABILITY TO ATTEND prior to registering them.

What is the cost?

The registration fee, which includes a T-shirt, is $35.00 per student. To celebrate the musical accomplishments of the students, we offer the following discounts for students who achieved the following status in either 2020 or 2021: All-Region members may attend for $25.00, All-Area members may attend for $15.00, and All-State members may attend the Junior/Senior Honor Band Weekend free of charge. This information will be verified by the director when the student is nominated. All fees are due prior to or at the time of check-in and can be paid with cash, check (made out to Texas A&M University-Commerce) or credit card.

What precautions and safety measures are in place for Covid-19?

At this time, the University is preparing for a normal state of operations for the fall. If CDC or University guidelines change prior to the event then precautions such as masks, bell-covers or distancing may be recommended. Hand sanitizing stations and air filters are located throughout the buildings.

What if I have a play-off game on that Friday night?

We recognize that bands may still be involved in playoff games. While most directors excuse their student from the game to attend JR/SR Honor Band, students involved in performing at play-off games on Friday night are still strongly encouraged to participate. Students that have to miss the Friday session due to a conflict with a football game are asked to arrive promptly by 7:15 AM on Saturday morning to register and audition prior to the morning session.

What music do I use for auditions?

Honor band auditions are for placement in the bands and for chair placement only. Every student nominated before the ensembles have filled is accepted into the bands. Students should prepare a one-minute technical piece and a one-minute lyrical piece. (Most students choose to use their All-Region Etudes). Because of time constraints, scales will not be asked in auditions. Percussionists should prepare a snare and mallet etude. (All-Region pieces are perfectly acceptable).

Are there master-classes for both TMEA and ATSSB students?

Yes! There will be separate masterclasses on both the TMEA and ATSSB All-Region music for each instrument. Please bring a copy of your etudes.

Is there housing available?

For directors, students, and parents that would like to spend Friday and/or Saturday night near campus, a select rate has been established with several local hotels in Commerce and Greenville.

To utilize these hotels and make hotel reservations, please call:

The Hotel Magnuson in Commerce (903.886.4777)

The Holiday Inn Express in Greenville (903.454.8680)

The Hampton Inn in Greenville (903.457.9200)

*Be sure to ask for the TAMU-Commerce Junior/Senior Honor Band Weekend rate. You may of course choose any hotel in the area you like. Please note: There is no campus residence hall housing available, and the university does not supervise students in the hotels.

Where do we eat?

There are several restaurants within a short walk of campus. The university dining hall is also available. Meals are not included in the cost of the event. A map of the area with restaurant listings will be available at check in.

What should I bring to rehearsal besides my instrument?

Percussionists are responsible for bringing their own sticks and mallets. Brass players should bring all mutes. Woodwind players should have a selection of quality reeds.

ABOUT THE CONCERT

When is the final concert? The final concert is on Saturday evening, November 20th at 7:00 p.m.

What do I wear for the concert? Please bring your school's CONCERT band uniform.

Is there a cost to attend the concert? The concert is free, so please invite your friends and family.

What is the schedule for the weekend?

Please see the schedule of events for a more detailed description of the Honor Band Weekend, located at: <http://www.tamuc.edu/music> (Click on Annual Programs and Workshops and then JR/SR Honor Band)

Will the concert be recorded?

Yes! A professional recording of the concert will be made and forms will be available to order a copy of the recording.